VILLAGERS MOURN OLD PADDY, GENTLEMAN TRAMP

Sunday Express Reporter

Sunday Express Reporter

IN the Welsh mountain villages around Machynlleth, Montgomeryshire, they called Old Paddy the tramp a real gentleman. And when he died last week the local council pald £30 for a coffin and a blue size headstone. The council arranged the tuneral, and the chairman, Mr. Richard Williams, was the chief mourner of their arection, for Old Paddy ... one from his friends at the Penrhox Arms ... another from members of the British Leston who remembered his First World War stories.
